Dear Harold, Tuesday 9th December 1975

I received your new book POST MORTEM, and the letter to Hal. You wrote the address (number) incorrectly. No matter. I crossed out the wrong numbers and wrote in the correct ones and sent it off in this morning's mail. Hal should receive your letter by Wednesday 10 December. You transposed the numbers. Just to be on the safe side, here is Hal's correct address and telephone number:

Harold Verb
3544 Taraval
San Francisco, Ca. 94116 (415) 665-3907

Last night we spoke on the telephone. Among other things, we discussed the retieval of your Oswald In New Orleans paperbacks. He said that he has been very busy lately between his day job and his evening mail order business. But he will check it out the very first opportunity he has. You'll be the third person to find out. I'll be the second.

We are going to get together for a meeting next week.

Hal mentioned to me that he had a copy of the INDEX prepared for OSWALD IN NEW ORLEANS. A light bulb flashed in my head. Why don't you offer this INDEX as a freebee when people order your new book? Kill two birds with one stone. On one hand it's a good promotional idea, and will be of assistance to your loyal readership. Then they could make copies of it and send it to their friends. What do you think of the idea?

More later. Can't wait to get into POST MORTEM.

Sincerely,

David
